JO'S REFLECTIONS - JO MASEBERG-TOMLINSON, JULY 20, 2008

Thank you Fellowship member Jo Maseberg-Tomlinson, for sharing these thoughts while Rev Michael Nelson is away on study leave!

When I was a girl, the end of July would find me in the kitchen of the old ranch house, the home Great Grandpa built from chicken wire, stucco, and lake mud, canning green beans.

It's been eleven years now since my family left the ranch, and as I read Barbara Kingsolver's book Animal, Vegetable, Miracle, those hot summer days of long labor came back to me. I remember the old radio playing country music as the canning went late into the night. June bugs clung noisily to the kitchen window screens, the windows wide open, begging for a breeze. Just seven more quarts of beans to can and then we could all fall exhausted into our beds and try to sleep despite the heat.

We children learned to snap and wash the bountiful buckets of beans at an early age, and as young women in towns and cities learned to paint their toenails and curl their hair, I learned to stand over a steaming pressure cooker, turning the knob on that battered stove to just the right number to keep the pressure at 12 pounds, no more no less, and to wait for the miracle of preservation to take place. I handled steaming jars and boiling water as my contemporaries handled change and scoops of ice cream in summer jobs that paid in something other than produce. And yet, I still recall the swell of pride that came with the first canner-load I canned myself. Those jars of beans, lined up perfectly straight on the wooden shelves in the cellar, seemed to promise more than just a balanced diet for some winter's night. They seemed to promise that no matter how lean the times would get--and times were always lean--we would have what mattered most: food and family togetherness.

Is it any wonder, looking back at the acre-large garden we raised and the produce we tucked away, that my first thought upon hearing that Jesus walked in a garden was wondering whether they raised zucchini in Judea? I may know better now, but I do believe that if the world shared a garden in the summer, we'd appreciate one another a great deal more. The brutal physical labor and the sense of satisfaction and accomplishment that comes from raising and preserving your own food create ties that bind those who do it. If our president had to tend his own garden to feed his family, we might be hearing about his prize tomatoes and not about his endless war.

I had that thought this past weekend as I attended a Methodist church in a small central Kansas town with my parents. As the congregation prayed aloud for rain, I remembered my childhood, praying for the rain to come and praying for the hail to stay away and praying for the plants to grow and become fruitful. I didn't hear anyone praying for our nation to best another nation in battle, or for our men to kill more of their men on a nameless street in another land.

Someday, I may have a child of my own. Before that day comes, I'd like to find a home with a garden plot out back, and somewhere nearby, a root cellar. There's something about bottling summer into the same Mason jars your great grandmother used that makes you realize who you are and what's really important in life. A child can do worse than to spend a summer working hard with family, putting by for another day. A child can do worse than to learn to pray for rain.

MICHAEL NELSON'S SCHEDULE

FOUR MEALS POTLUCK

Following Rhonda Janke's program on Sunday, AUGUST 17, we will re-enact the meals described in Michael Pollan's book OMNIVORE'S DILEMMA, as a potluck. Those planning to attend are asked to sign up ahead of time to contribute a dish to one of four meals:

1. Fast food - Preferably purchased at a drive-up window from your vehicle. You may bring any item from the menu. Also bring the packaging that comes with it.
2. Industrial organic - You may purchase this anywhere, but since meals 3 and 4 are from local foods, try to purchase ingredients that come from out-of-state, or from unknown origins. Items must be "certified organic."
3. Local and sustainable - In this case, the food doesn't have to be "certified organic" but it must be grown locally (in Riley or nearby counties).
4. Food that you have personally grown, raised, hunted or fished. Perhaps you have an apple tree in your backyard, or some tomatoes in your garden?

A good source of local food is the Manhattan Farmers' Market, Saturday from 8 am to 1 pm, at 5th and Humboldt, and Wednesday from 4 to 7 pm, at Cico Park. Other sources include the "Green Market" in front of People's on Wednesday from 4 to 6 pm, or www.localharvest.org, and www.kansasrivervalley.org

Kim Belanger at 587-8107 or kgardenbelanger@yahoo.com, and Emily Ross at 317-3844 or emilyaross@hotmail.com, will be circulating sign-up sheets on Sundays. When you bring your dish, make sure it's clearly labeled with a meal number and anything else that will help people appreciate it.

Looking for a way to volunteer at the Fellowship, but just don't have much time to spare? Sunday COFFEE PROVIDERS work with at least one other volunteer following the Sunday morning service to make coffee, beverages, and serve a simple snack. A sign up sheet is provided in the kitchen, and you may choose any open date that fits your schedule. Contact Betty Banner at 776-1887 or bettybanner@gmail.com

GREETERS share a smile as folks arrive on Sunday morning, encourage visitors to sign our guest book, answer questions, and help to create a warm and welcoming atmosphere at UUFM. Contact Welcoming Committee co-chairs Mary Westfall at 539-5397 or westyks@hotmail.com, or Cathy Hedge at 537-1101 or cathyhedge@usd475.org

This month, Fellowship volunteers will prepare and serve HAPPY KITCHEN COMMUNITY BREAKFAST on Friday, AUGUST 8 and AUGUST 22, at St Paul's Episcopal Church. VOLUNTEERS ARE NEEDED. The meal is free and all are invited to join us for good food and fellowship. Two volunteers will be scheduled during each four-hour shift. Entrance to the fair and free parking is provided. Learn more from Betty Banner at 776-1887 or bettybanner@gmail.com

HELPING HANDS SUNDAY

On AUGUST 10, our Helping Hands Sunday beneficiary will be the FLINT HILLS COMMUNITY CLINIC, a local free clinic for the uninsured. Local physicians donate their services, but the agency is currently serving as many clients as they can handle. After diagnosing the need they help clients work with pharmaceutical companies to provide them with free medication, and provides physician samples to help patients while waiting for their meds to arrive. The clinic is located in the basement of the old federal building at 4th and Houston (323-4351).

All cash contributions and checks placed in the offering basket on the second Sunday of the month will go to the Helping Hands Sunday beneficiary, unless otherwise indicated. Write "UUFM" on the memo line of your check to indicate contributions NOT intended for the beneficiary. All checks should be made out to UUFM. For more information, contact our Helping Hands Sunday coordinator Yvonne Lacy at 539-4404 or yvcq67lacy@sbcglobal.net

EQUAL EXCHANGE COFFEE

Fair Trade products are offered for purchase at the Fellowship following Sunday programs. Regular, decaf, whole bean, and ground coffees, as well as chocolate, and tea are available. Special orders can be taken. To learn more, or to purchase Fair Trade products, please contact Anne Cowan at 537-2025 or anne\_cowan@sbcglobal.net or ask her on Sunday mornings. More information is available at www.equalexchange.com

CFL LIGHT BULBS

In an effort to promote green living, compact fluorescent light bulbs will be available for purchase by members, friends and guests at the Fellowship on Sunday mornings. Fifteen-watt CFL bulbs, which produce light equivalent to a standard 60-watt bulb, and 20-watt CFL bulbs, which produce light equivalent to a standard 75-watt bulb, are $4 each. If every home in the US replaced one incandescent bulb with a high efficiency CFL bulb, it would save energy sufficient to fuel 2,000,000 cars for a year. Spend $4 and save $65 in energy costs. Do your bit to help decrease global warming! Contact Anne Cowan at 537-2025 or anne\_cowan@sbcglobal.net to learn more or ask her on Sunday mornings.

SOCIAL ACTION COMMITTEE MEETING

The Social Action Committee meets on Thursday, August 21, from 5 to 6 pm in the large RE classroom at the Fellowship. Discussion will include requests for assistance received from people impacted by tornado and flood damage. Interested member and friends are welcome to attend. Learn more from Social Action chair Pat Weisenburger at 539-4711 or patw@ksu.edu

WORDS FROM OUR CHAIR

Dear Fellowship Members and Friends,

The July Executive Board meeting took place early in July because both the Secretary Terri Franz, and I, left for Germany, Austria and Switzerland on July 9 and would not have been able to attend the meeting on our regularly scheduled day, the second Thursday of the month. All Board members and Michael Nelson were able to attend and I would like to thank them for their flexibility in agreeing to have the meeting early. Terri and I had a great time on the trip and are planning another one for 2010!

The June Board meeting minutes, a Standard Committee Report from the Programming Committee, and the Treasurer's Report presented by Mark Mayfield were approved during the July Board meeting. Michael Nelson gave a report about June activities and Chair-elect Dale Askey reported on the first Council of Committees meeting of the year which took place on June 17.

The scheduled discussion covered two topics: A follow-up on the DRE job description and the formation of a DRE Search Committee. Michael Oldfather, member of the DRE Job Description Task Force, presented a slightly revised version of the DRE job description. One of the items on the job description was discussed at some length, the Board voted on an amendment to this item, and approved the DRE job description

The majority of the discussion centered around the formation of a DRE Search Committee. The task force will have 5 voting members who agreed to serve on the committee: Dick Beeman for the Executive Board, Aaron Ford, Carolyn Ferguson, Molly McGaughey, and Larry Weaver. In addition, Michael Nelson will be a non-voting member. Thank you to all of them for their willingness to work on this important task. We had a list of highly qualified members to choose from. We tried to balance the selection with regard to gender, age, sexual orientation, long-time and newer members as well as involvement in RE. It was not easy to come up with a list, but the Board was in full agreement with the selection that we made.

The next Board meeting will take place on Thursday, August 14 at 7:00 pm. All members and friends are invited to attend.

Elke Lorenz

UUFM Executive Board Chair

Contact Elke at 539-3527 or ellorenz@uufm.net

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING

The Executive Board will meet Thursday, AUGUST 14, at 7 pm in the old sanctuary. Members and friends of the Fellowship are welcome and encouraged to attend. To learn more, contact Executive Board Chair Elke Lorenz at 539-3527 or ellorenz@uufm.net

SUNSHINE CORNER

This delightful anonymously submitted report appeared on the administrator's desk during the third week of July. It offers commentary on some much-appreciated volunteer efforts around the building:

A spontaneous gathering occurred on last Friday morning when Daniel Bush and Pat Weisenburger arrived within each others' time orbits--Daniel to complete his [fire]wood bed, and Pat to sort out the children's garden. Pat's dog Shadow and Nancy Stover enjoyed visiting with them. Together the flowers and weeds got sorted out--one is so easily seen as the other.

As adult children, we talked of elves arranging root systems and our own roots--family type. Pat is Danish. Daniel made instant friends with Shadow by bringing her a bowl of water on a hot day. His own work rises sturdy and symmetrical.

It was nice to have this coincidental opportunity to become friends in Fellowship care, and commitment to increase of order.

Thanks for the spirit of fellowship generated by these good hearts, loving minds, and strong hands!

LITTLE HISTORIES

BY CHARLEY KEMPTHORNE, FELLOWSHIP HISTORIAN

Dorothy Miller died January 1, 2000, almost 89. David Norton, a longtime UU friend and her caregiver in the last years of her life, came to the UU next day and announced her death. Most of the people there that day had not known her.

I met Dorothy in 1953 when I was a high school student. I probably had known her longer than anyone. She was my high school student English teacher. Yes, student--at 42, Dorothy Miller went back to college. In the 1950s, long before the age of the "non-traditional" student, that was quite unusual.

Dorothy was a little lady of great strength. In most ways she was a perfect example of a Unitarian Universalist, and she was an active member and builder of this Fellowship from its beginning in 1957 to the day of her death on that first day of the last year of our previous century. She, her husband Cecil and their four children—Lauren, Basia, Kerry and Tybel—were a bulwark of this Fellowship for close to half a century.

As a student teacher in training Dorothy graded one of my themes. I was a smart kid (weren't we all?) and I was used to getting A's from the regular teacher. Dorothy gave me a B. In the margin next to the word "obviously" that I'd used, she wrote, "If it's so obvious, why say it?"

Years later at the Fellowship I read a poem by Gerard Manley Hopkins and after the program Dorothy corrected my mispronunciation of the word "windhover." (Don't I have an excellent memory!)

Is it a characteristic of Unitarians to be critical? Yes, it is. We're that way from birth, perhaps. Critical thinking is part of our toolkit, but in the case of Dorothy it was far from the only tool. She was always exceptionally gracious, warm, and thoughtful. When I joined the Fellowship in 1983 she was quick to come up to me and renew old acquaintance with her bright smile and warm touch. I might add that graciousness and genuine warmth beneath the criticalness is also a characteristic--often--of Unitarians. We're pretty nice people. We just want to get things right.

But my point here, today, is not so much to write an encomium of Dorothy Miller as to remind all of you, especially those of you who are older than I--not too many of you anymore--that you may have stories about Dorothy or other members, some gone and some still here, that you harbor in your own memory and, but for the tedious job of writing it up, might share with the rest of us.

History is made up of just such little stories. Glimpses. If you have one or more about your life in the Fellowship, why don't you call me and I'll be happy to listen to you and record it and write it up? Or just email the story to me and I'll make sure it becomes part of our historical record.

Oh, and sooner is better than later. Obviously.
