

OCTOBER 2010 PROGRAMS

OCTOBER 3 "BEYOND BLOODY KANSAS"

Rev Thea Nietfeld reflects, "Before Kansas was admitted to the union in 1861, pro- and anti-slavery advocates fought with words, ballots, and weapons. John Brown's Puritanism and our Transcendentalist forebears influenced the culture that has come to us over the last 150 years. What takes us beyond Bloody Kansas?"

OCTOBER 10 "MOVING THE BODY, ENGAGING THE SPIRIT"

Fellowship members Dave Lambert, Pat Embers, and Mark Moser lead an exploration of the connection of the body and breath with the spirit. Contact/convener is Jennifer Askey at 341-5920 or jda127@gmail.com

OCTOBER 17 "HOW TO TELL YOUR NEIGHBOR YOU ARE A UU"

Rev Michael Nelson muses, "Since we have no creed and span a broad spectrum of theological possibilities, it is often difficult to explain what it means to be a Unitarian Universalist. Silence is not a good option. We will explore a number of possible approaches to how we might define our deeply held values." Contact Michael at 537-2349 or minister@uufm.net
During the October 17 service we welcome new members to our congregation.

OCTOBER 24 "WALKING WITH THOREAU"

Rev Ted Tollefson of the Unitarian Universalist Society of River Falls, Wisconsin, shares a life-long passion. "Thoreau teaches us that something sacred comes to light in the fluid boundary between nature and human nature. Walking makes that sacred dimension visible." Contact/convener is Michael Nelson at 537-2349 or minister@uufm.net
Join Ted following the service at 12:15 pm, for a workshop providing a deeper exploration of "Walking with Thoreau."

OCTOBER 31 "THE IN-BETWEEN"

UUFM Director of Religious Education Maria Snyder describes this service, "On the day when the veil is thinnest between the living and the dead, we will look at several in-between spaces." Contact Maria at 537-2349 or dre@uufm.net

Many routes lead to Unitarian Universalism. It can feel risky to go where you have never been; enter rooms filled with strangers. For Peter Morales, the president of the Unitarian Universalist Association (UUA), it was his 12-year-old daughter, Marcella, who wanted to belong to a Church. All of her friends belonged to one, so it was Marcella that brought the Morales family to a UU parking lot on a Sunday morning. Her parents were reluctant to leave the car. They wanted to go back home, but honored their promise to their daughter, and walked in. This small risk eventually led Peter to the Starr King School for the Ministry, and to the presidency of the UUA. Thanks Marcella!

Peter's parents were Mexican immigrants. The first in his family to attend college, he received a full scholarship at Raymond College where he met his future wife, Phyllis. After graduation they moved to Lawrence, Kansas where Peter did graduate work in the administration of higher education. He received a Fulbright Scholarship to teach in Spain. In the midst of this adventure, their 4-year-old son, Miguel, was diagnosed with kidney cancer. The odds of his recovery were higher in the states. They moved to Berkeley where they helped Miguel endure 18 months of chemotherapy. With Miguel free of cancer, the family moved to Sacramento. Peter worked for the state and Phyllis taught school. They had their second child, Marcella. Life stabilized and then became boring. They cashed in their retirement plans and bought a small newspaper in Rogue, Oregon. The newspaper became a community ministry. As a team they created a socially conscious agenda. The paper was a strong proponent of gay rights at a time when others in Oregon were actively working at passing anti-gay measures.

The Morales found a home in the Eugene UU congregation and as they moved further into the life of this progressive faith community, Peter felt the call to become a UU minister. Again the family changed course and Peter became a student at Starr King. This September he attended the World Congress for International Freedom in India where he spoke on the need to move beyond conflict to reconciliation. The Dalai Lama spoke about the intersection of science and religion and the need for religion to evolve as science provides new insights.

Peter, a liberal religious evangelist, urges congregations to increase their capacity to reach people who would, like his family, find themselves at home in a UU community. One of the beloved UU traditions Peter questions is the practice of "Joys and Concerns." In small congregations of 50 members or less, the sharing of joys and concerns during services fosters a sense of connection and community; however, as congregations grow, the practice can become lengthy and cumbersome, breaking up the smooth flow of the message of the service. He understands the profound importance for people to share their joys and concerns. He believes that UU congregations need to find multiple ways for them to be shared. In the spirit of experimentation the program committee and I, feel that we would benefit from experimenting with new approaches to the way we share our joys and concerns. Our Committee on Ministry suggests that we develop a phone tree to share information of an urgent nature. We encourage your feedback and suggestions as we experiment with a variety of ways to share joys and concerns. Let us know what you think works and doesn't work. Let us be willing to explore and evolve so that we continue to make our Fellowship a place where they are cared for with compassion and joy.

RE NEWS

REFLECTIONS - MARIA SNYDER, DRE, SEPTEMBER 24, 2010

We have lots of things going on in RE this month. OWL (Our Whole Lives) for Kindergarten thru 2nd Grades begins. There are two important meetings to come to before the classes begin. First, October 3 from 9 to 10:30 am, we have a Parents Meeting. This meeting will answer your questions about what is covered, why we offer this class, and what you can expect. The following week [Oct 10], we have a Parent/Child Orientation. This class will prepare you and your children to get the most out of the classes. The following week [Oct 17], classes will begin from 10:30 to noon, during Religious Education classes (and a little before). Make sure to pick up a schedule before the meeting and feel free to call, email or drop in with you questions.

The teens will continue to meet for Popcorn Theology, where we watch movies related to a theological theme and have activities, discussion and popcorn! Those meetings are currently Tuesdays at 6 pm. We are looking for responsible adults who would like to help out with discussion and maybe facilitate a meeting.

Our K-2 and 3-5 groups have been learning about Sacred Spaces. They made representations of those spaces. Sacred Space is something that can be portable. Consider making a sacred space in your home, or consider ways to take sacred space with you.

On October 31, I will be doing a service called The In-Between. I have been contemplating in my last two years as a student, the in-between places. We are taught these dichotomous relationships from before we realize, boy and girl, black and white, gay and straight, living and dead, theist and atheist. What are we missing in the in-between? As a person who walks some of these in-betweens, I will look at these spaces. I hope you will join me.

Maria

Contact Maria during office hours, seen at right, at 537-2349, or contact her anytime at dre@uufm.net

OWL ORIENTATION

An Orientation class for parents of Kindergarten thru 2nd grade students will be held Sunday, October 3, from 9 to 10:30 am. The following week, October 10, we'll again meet at 9 am for a parent/student orientation. OWL classes begin on Sunday, October 17, at 10:30 am. Learn more from Maria Snyder.

TEENS - POPCORN THEOLOGY

Teens, tweens, and parents are invited to join us for Popcorn Theology on scheduled Tuesday evenings. Movies are contemporary selections, evoking introspective thought, and stimulating discussion. Recently viewed films have included Willow, The Fellowship of the Ring, and Defending Your Life. We meet at 6 pm, in the Inez Alsop room (old sanctuary).

Invite your friends and lets eat lots of buttery popcorn. Watch for announcements on the UUFM list serv, and in Sunday morning bulletins for October movies and dates. Learn more from Maria Snyder at 537-2349 or dre@uufm.net

WORDS FROM OUR CHAIR - LARRY WEAVER, SEPTEMBER 23, 2010

Wow! What a provocative set of meetings we had in August! First there was the "What about God?" Sunday.

How do we respond to "peak experiences?" Do we say "Thank God!" or "Incredible!" After the talk, in the time for comments, we heard from many members who do say "Thank God!" and who pray, and from others who are just glad that such experience is humanly possible. The overwhelming consensus, and Michael's final point, was that however we handle the "God question," we use these experiences as inspiration to right action in the world.

A week later Michael asked us "How can we respond to evil yet neither succumb to hate nor lose the capacity to see good in people?" Michael's talk gave no easy answer but again provoked a lot of response from the congregation. One comment I treasure was that "We need to be stirred [to decent action] but not shaken [in our commitment to humane values]." I've skipped the martini but used the phrase as a helpful mantra in several situations since then.

And then the Musicale! August at the Fellowship was an inspiration ...

... and then came September: new faces in the adults, lots of new children in RE, some terrific programs and more wonderful music. And there is a lot of not-so-obvious activity: we have many active committees that do good work among our own members and in the local community. This ranges from book clubs and discussion groups among ourselves to serving breakfast to folks who need it and delivering commodities to people who are unable to collect them for themselves. This good work is rewarding in itself and can always use more hands. If you are new, volunteer. If you are already active, welcome new people and new ideas. The year is off to a fine start. Take part!
