

FEBRUARY 2012 PROGRAMS

FEBRUARY 5 "CUPID'S ARROW IN AN ECONOMIST'S QUIVER"

Vincent Amanor-Boadu leads a conversation exploring the economics of romantic love and its effect on people's choices. He explores how time and other resource constraints influence people's choices in the selection of their romantic lovers and how feedback and learning from these relationships influence the value they place on the relationship. Contact/convener is Dave Lambert at 587-8750 or david.k.lambert@gmail.com

FEBRUARY 12 "A WOMAN'S RIGHT TO???"

Unitarians played a vital role in helping women in their struggle to gain the right to vote. Enell Foerster and Rev Michael Nelson will investigate how this fundamental shift in power occurred and examine how the need for further empowerment continues. Contact Michael at 537-2349 or minister@uufm.net

FEBRUARY 19 "HAPPINESS"

Dave Lambert explores the growing focus of economists on happiness. Once considered an unobservable and even an unnecessary concept underlying people's choices, economists have more recently explored how the pursuit of happiness guides choices and is an important measure of personal and social well being. It is, after all, not all about the money. Contact Dave at 587-8750 or david.k.lambert@gmail.com

FEBRUARY 26 "A FESTIVAL OF BACH"

Fellowship member Jim Shanteau leads a "mostly Bach" musical program that features his venerable Woodwinds Anonymous ensemble. The day's spiritual message will be delivered in the universal language of music, with featured speakers to include flute, clarinet, oboe and others. Contact Jim at 537-0526 or shanteauj@yahoo.com

THINGS UU CHURCHES DO RIGHT - MELISSA AND DAVID MCKEE, JANUARY 19, 2012

Fellowship members Melissa and David McKee share some thoughts on things that have worked in various UU congregations they have been a part of around the country. Sadly, there was not sufficient room in the newsletter for the complete text. Please visit our web site, at <http://uufm.net/?p=2408>, to view David and Melissa's full commentary.

We aren't quite lifetime UU's, but we're close. Melissa's family joined The First Unitarian Universalist Church of San Antonio

MELISSA MCKEE SPEAKS
DURING THE SERVICE
ON JULY 25, 2010

(FUUSA) when she was in preschool; David's family joined the same church when he was a teen. Over the last fifteen years the demands of grad school and post-doctoral appointments have kept us moving. As such we bring considerable experience with UU churches across the country. We want to talk about things that some of these churches do well. We are drawing these thoughts from the UU churches, fellowships, congregations and societies that we've attended at least a few times. We count eight in that list.

Some of these are things that UUFM already does well, some are things that we could probably do better, and some may not be a good fit for our community: this isn't intended as some kind of checklist of Things That Must Be Done ...

Our thoughts can be grouped into things that make a UU group welcoming to visitors and newcomers; things that give our services a feeling of continuity and our facilities and worship a feeling of sanctity; and things which encourage the growth of our denomination and congregations and help us to manage the slightly different culture of larger congregations without losing the closeness of our community.

Let's face it: we're a minority denomination everywhere and not well understood ...

At the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Tuscaloosa (UUCT) they did a particularly good job of greeting visitors, making sure they were introduced to a member who would show them around and introduce them to the minister and the DRE ...

Something we do very well and really does help as a visitor or a new member are our use of nametags. Almost everyone wears theirs and this means that a visitor doesn't have to try and remember all of the names of people they've met ...

Another thing that is important to have is good literature explaining who and what we are. The Principles and Purposes cards that we have are a great place to start ...

A big difference between many of the UU congregation we've attended and more traditional churches is a lack of sense of sanctity in the sanctuary. The Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of the Peninsula (UUFPP) in Newport News, Virginia was a big exception ...

David in particular likes a sense of ritual in the service without expecting or desiring a high degree of uniformity (as if ...) or a "High Church" feel. Several of the churches we've been part of have succeeded in framing the service with a few fairly reliable ... touchpoints [such as] chalice lighting ...

... If we are truly successful in reaching out to new comers, our churches will grow and that is in itself a challenge ... To make a big church work it must be built of smaller units without becoming cliquish. Lots of activities ... like circle suppers--which bring church members together in smaller groups ... are needed ...

Friendliness to financially distressed members takes many forms. Just pledging enough to cover UUA and regional dues can be a burden for some ...

The audio recording efforts here and at the Williamsburg Unitarian Universalist (WUU) church in Virginia are very helpful ...

As nomads the last several years we have always looked for a UU church to help provide people who will accept us for who we are; a place where we know we are welcome; and an immediate home and connection in our new community. We would like all who come to this congregation to have the same feeling of welcome and place that we know and found there.

Melissa and David

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION NEWS

REGARDING RE - CORY ZELLER, DRE, JANUARY 19, 2012

Love is in the air! The Religious Education program is full of love after a wonderful month of January. We started new classes on Sundays and began the Our Whole Lives program. We rung in the New Year at Parents' Night Out and had a rootin' tootin' good time at the Chili Tasting.

This month we are going to celebrate our love for each other and our fellow community members at a Valentine's-themed Parents Night Out on Friday, February 3, by counting cans for the Flint Hills Breadbasket on Sunday, February 5, and at a Valentine's Party at Meadowlark Hills on Saturday, February 11. The theme for PNO this month will be Valentine's Day. We will make cards, decorate cookies, play cupid games, and watch a love-themed movie. On Sunday, the February 5, we will show our love for others in the community by counting the collected cans for the Flint Hills Breadbasket and arranging delivery of them. Then, on Saturday, February 11, we will extend love to our Meadowlark Hills UUFM residents at a Valentine's Party. We will share snacks, give Valentine's cards, and perform some musical numbers to celebrate the special holiday.

Love will abound in our classes as well. This month, the K-2nd and 3rd-6th graders will continue their study of the Judeo-Christian roots of Unitarian Universalism through Bible stories. The preschoolers continue to learn about Unitarian Universalism and our Fellowship through their Chalice Children lessons. And, the infants and toddlers will continue to learn new themes each week.

Love will be talked about directly in our Our Whole Lives classes this month. The K-2nd and 4th-6th graders will celebrate their bodies, learn about safe touches, and discuss different types of relationships. Their classes conclude on February 26.

Valentine's Day has become a bit of a Hallmark holiday, but I think it serves as a useful reminder to show our love and not take love for granted. We deeply care for our families, fellow UUFM members, and our community, so let us spend this month showing it. No gesture is too grand! For, we are the church of the open mind, the helping hands, and the warm heart. Happy Valentine's Day!

Love, Cory

ALL ABOUT US

Thank goodness for our Flint Hills. Their beauty draws back lovely people such as KATIE KINGERY-PAGE. Katie is a new member to our Fellowship, but not new to Manhattan. She lived in Manhattan before, and has returned to teach Landscape Architecture at KSU. Katie lives in Manhattan with her husband, Lindsay Smith and their two daughters, Iris and Ruby. During her childhood, Katie's parents surrounded her with fascinating people interested in the arts of sculpture, poetry, and writing. She also learned a strong sense of the dynamic world and her place in it. She studied sculpture at Wichita State, trained at the Art Institute of Chicago, and received her Master's Degree in Landscape Architecture from Kansas State. She feels lucky to have had her parent's influence in her life and to have her father (TOM PAGE) nearby. She is passionate about our environment and wants to wake up each day surrounded by the subtle beauty of the Flint Hills. Welcome to our Fellowship, Katie.

Please extend your sympathy to JIM SHANTEAU who recently lost his mother, HELEN SHANTEAU, an active participant in UUFM services and activities. Helen was 91.

We wish LARRY WEAVER a speedy recovery from shoulder surgery. It doesn't seem the same around the Fellowship without him.

JENNIFER BRYAN recently announced that her temporary position at Lee School as a Paraprofessional has now become a regular position. Jennifer works with special needs children. She shared this poem on a recent Sunday program about New Year's resolutions.

*To write a poem took all my thoughts
To make a list of shoulds and oughts
Do birds make lists of things each year
To pep themselves into high gear?
Prob'ly not, I say to you
It is from Earth they take their cue.*

*So should a list I make for me
to visit ocean, creek, or sea?
Or take long walks at night each day
Which would enrich my earthly stay?
To toss the cakes, replace with stew
What would most make me more like you?*

"WHO'S THE UU?" CAN YOU GUESS?

FEBRUARY EVENTS IN UNITARIAN UNIVERSALISM

February 24 1566 - First public dispute of the Trinity, Transylvania

The first disputation (open dispute/debate) of the existence of the Trinity in Transylvania was opened by Francis David (Ferenc Dávid) under the authority of Prince John Sigismund (János Zsigmond Zápolya). After "winning" the subsequent debates at Torda two years later (1568), the anti-Trinitarians were officially recognized, leading to the historical founding of the Unitarian church. Transylvanian Unitarians, as well as today's Unitarian Universalists, consider Francis David a "founding father" of their religion. When David was publicly challenged and the reversal of the Edicts was threatened (by Calvinists and others opposed to Unitarianism), he said, "I will defend to my death your right to do so."

Thank you Barbara Bascom for providing this information!

TIMELINE OF UNITARIAN AND UNIVERSALIST HISTORY

Our timeline of Unitarian and Universalist history continues into the first centuries of the Common Era. Further segments will appear in future newsletters, as space allows. This timeline was developed by Gregory Jacobbe, of the First Unitarian Church of Essex County, New Jersey.

ca 100 CE - The Ebionites, an early Jewish Christian sect believed to be directly descended from the Jerusalem Church, flourish in Judea and surrounding areas. They emphasize the oneness of God and the humanity of Jesus who by virtue of his righteousness, was chosen by God to be the Messiah. They rejected Jesus' pre-existence, atoning death, and physical resurrection. After the Second Jewish War (132-35 CE), their influence waned, and disappeared in the 4th Century CE.

100 - 150 CE - "Clement," author of The Apocalypse of Peter, explained that God will save all sinners from their plight in Hell through the prayers of those in Heaven. The unknown author(s) of The Sibylline Oracles distinctly avowed a belief in universal salvation.

ca 200 CE - The "Monarchian Controversy" first erupted during the papacy of Victor I (189-99 CE) as a reaction to the theology put forth by Justin Martyr (ca 100-165) who spoke of Jesus of Nazareth as a second god. Many proto-Arian and proto-Socinian ideas, not fully formed, were first propounded.

215 CE - Origen of Alexandria expressed the idea that in time all of creation would be restored to harmony with God. He was the successor of Pantaenus, a saint in the Coptic and Oriental Churches, and founder of the Didascalium, an influential early Christian theological school, thoroughly universalist in its theology.

Watch for the next installment in the March newsletter.

- ~ He/she once dated Richard Simmons. STEVEN MULL dated Richard Simmons for a brief time. (Ask Steve about the joke that ended their relationship.)
- ~ This UU met his/her spouse when they both worked as figure drawing models. Fellowship administrator SUSAN TURNER (aka UUSue) and her husband Steve met and fell in love when they were working as figure drawing models in the KSU Art Department. Sue actually saw Steve in a friend's sketchbook before meeting him "in the flesh."

CHILI TASTING REPORT

Our first attempt at a cook off--the January 14 Chili Tasting Dinner--was very successful. The event raised over $1000 for our General Operating Fund. We had 15 cooks who volunteered to bring their favorite chili. A few of those cooks were sure they had a winner. Brice Hobrock seemed to be the favorite for the night although they were all winners. Director of Religious Education Cory Zeller led a cakewalk for children and adults. After dinner and voting we had top notch entertainment with Michael Oldfather on the guitar, and Ana Franklin and Elke Lorenz singing and yodeling. A square dance club joined us to demonstrate and teach children and adults some basics. Everyone had a great time. Thanks to everyone who pitched in and helped with planning, set up, cleanup, ticket taking, bar tenders, our sound and entertainment people, our cooks, and all who attended. Tom Philips organized a wonderful event with many helpers.

FROM BUDDY AND BOBETTE MCGAUGHEY

Thank you to all who shared our 50th anniversary celebration on December 26. We appreciate your good wishes if we saw you in a store, cards, and those who were able to find time to attend during a busy holiday season. You each made it a very special day. Your friendship enriches our lives.

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS !!!

A brief ceremony welcoming new members to our congregation, and recognizing the special contributions each of us brings to this community, will be held during the Sunday morning service on FEBRUARY 12. Join us in welcoming Amy Hilgendorf, Katie Kingery-Page, Tom Page, and Esther and Stephen Simmons to our family.

Learn about becoming a member of the Fellowship from Shirley Hobrock at 776-3175 or welcome@uufm.net, or Michael Nelson at 537-2349 or minister@uufm.net

$HOP $SMART GROCERY CERTIFICATES

UUFM is selling grocery certificates as a fund-raising activity, following Sunday services. The certificates spend just like cash and never expire. We have values of $10 and $25 for Dillons. Ray's Apple Market and Hy-Vee certificates are available by special order. The certificates are purchased from the Fellowship at face value, and UUFM earns 4% of all certificates purchased! It costs purchasers no more than they would normally spend on food, prescriptions, etc, while UUFM benefits with every purchase! Buy the certificates in the narthex after the Sunday service. Learn more from Sandy Nelson, 341-0135 or sandralounelson@yahoo.com, or Betty Banner at 776-1887 or bettybanner@gmail.com

CRAFT AND BAKE SALE REPORT

Finance Committee member Kathleen Oldfather reports results of our December 11 Holiday Craft and Bake Sale:

Our Craft and Bake Sale generated $792 for the Fellowship's General Operations Fund. On behalf of the Finance Committee, I would like to thank you all for your donations. It was wonderful to see your creative talents. The art auction items were very successful. Thank you for donating those larger pieces. I believe we could sell as much food as we can produce. It all looked wonderful and was snatched up quickly. Thank you to the bakers. The craft items were broad in scope and deep in creativity and beauty. Many children created items for sale, which was especially appreciated and enjoyed by all. Until next year ...
