JULY 2018 SUNDAY SERVICES

JULY 1 "OUR PRECIOUS AND PRECARIOUS DEMOCRACY"

Rev Jonalu Johnstone reflects, "As we approach the birthday of our nation, it's hard to assess the current state of our governance structures without alarm or cynicism. We acknowledge the challenges our democracy has faced in the past and how we haven't fully lived into our ideals, but we can't help but wonder if we face a unique challenge today. How did we get here? Are there signs of hope? Why should we care? What can we do?" Convener for this service is Christopher Renner at 341-9459 or renner1974@gmail.com.

JULY 8 "INTENTION AND ACTION"

Emily will be doing a lay led sermon on somatic techniques and practices that use a body-mind approach, and how they can be used to integrate intention and action in the body, thus enhancing the impact of action through the power of presence. Convener is Tom Phillips at 405 880-6483 or twp1@ksu.edu.

JULY 15 "HOW WE ARE WHO WE ARE: INDIVIDUAL AND COLLECTIVE IDENTITY"

Rev Jonalu Johnstone considers, "Tribalism remains basic to our human instincts and plays a greater role in our lives and politics than we might want to admit ... as social animals, how does collective identity outweigh our individual identity and vice versa? What influences grow us into who we are and what effect can we have on them by our choices?" Contact Jonalu at 537-2349 or revjonalu@uufm.net.

JULY 22 "SAILING"

Fellowship member Diane Barker speaks. Summer is a great time to take to the water. Learn about the joys and perils of sailing from past Commodore of the Blue Valley Yacht Club (BVYC) Diane Barker, and other Kansas salts with tips about lake sailing, exotic destinations, knots, and a few tales of shipwreck and close inspections. Don't be a landlubber. Convener is Katie Kingery-Page at 341-5650 or kingerypage@gmail.com.

JULY 29 "BELOVED CONVERSATIONS"

Jayci Hamm, Jonalu Johnstone, Colleen Riley, Laura Roberson, Jessica Sievers speak. "Racism is as old as history itself, and as such, needs intentional spaces to reverse its damaging impact." So begins the description of the curriculum Beloved Conversations which six folks from UUFM engaged with this spring and summer. This morning, they share their insights--from the effects of microaggressions to learning about our history separately and together to understanding the dynamics of power and bias. Contact Jonalu at 537-2349 or revjonalu@uufm.net.

WELCOMING CONGREGATION

Learn more about the Welcoming Congregation initiative at www.uua.org/lgbtq/welcoming/program

Perhaps you've noticed we've tried some different things during Sunday morning services. We had some testimonials about how and why people are active in the world. We had a band do special music one week. We had a flower ceremony where we created a piece of art with our flowers. We had an activity as part of the reflection on blessing, where we wrote to someone who had blessed us. We had a call and response song that was sprinkled through the service, instead of doing all verses at once. And, outside of services, we have added sharing some joys and sorrows (with permission) on the list serve. Soon, we will be using a new audio-visual system in the sanctuary.

Our Sunday Services Committee has been dipping our toe into multi-sensory worship, finding ways to make Sunday services more diverse, welcoming people with different styles of learning and ways of connecting.

In May, I shared with you some of the feedback that came from our feedback circle. Since then, we have more information from the survey the Two Services Task Force did. Overall, those who responded to the survey are pretty content with our current format, though hymns, the story and readings did not receive strong support. Performed music is really popular! There is some sentiment that a shorter, one-hour service would be enough. The Sunday Services Committee will be looking at all of this, as we move forward learning more about how to be more effective for more people.

As part of that effort, we are putting together--and invite anyone interested to--a workshop on July 28 at the UU Fellowship of Topeka. Both Sarah Oglesby-Dunegan, their minister, and I attended an intensive workshop by worship designer Marcia McFee. We want to share some of what we learned about how to better integrate music, video, story, drama, and art into our Sunday morning experience. And we'll do it experientially. Talk to me or Katie Kingery-Page if you want to know more.

In the meantime, let me share what I think our Sunday mornings together are about. I know the word "worship" is controversial. Rather than adoring some deity, I believe worship is considering what is worthy of our attention, and maybe even our devotion. My hope for each service you attend is that in some way it helps you consider what you feel is worthwhile in your life, that it helps you in some way to live a life that is better, deeper, and more meaningful.

That, to me, is the measure of success on Sunday mornings.

In faith and freedom,

Jonalu

PS I will be on vacation July 17-25. In case of emergency, our Office Administrator Sue Turner and Chair Jessica Sievers will know how to reach me. Have a great summer!

Talk to Rev Jonalu Johnstone after Sunday services, or contact her at 537-2349 or revjonalu@uufm.net. Read Jonalu's blog at uufm.net/topic/minister-blog/
